

Jessica Long

As Chief Empowerment Officer for Causeit, Jessica works to bring the practice and culture of networked leadership to teams working on exponential projects. Specializing in multicultural, interdisciplinary environments, Jessica has worked extensively in strategic partnerships with global companies, startups and innovation teams since joining Causeit in 2009. Her background in education theory and practice, anthropology, history and futurism uniquely informs her work as a coach, thought partner, facilitator and guide for leaders and organizations who need to upgrade their thinking for the Digital Age.
